A UNIVERSAL FOOD
Following Nature's Footsteps.
"I have a boy, two years old, weighing forty pounds and in perfect health who has been raised on Grape-Nuts and milk."
"This is an ideal food and evidently furnishes the elements necessary for a baby as well as for adults. We have used Grape-Nuts in large quantities and greatly to our advantage." One advantage about Grape-Nuts food is that it is partially pre-digested in the process of manufacture. The starch contained in the wheat and barley is transformed into a form of sugar by the same process as this process is carried on in the human body; that is, by the use of moisture and long exposure to moderate warmth.
It grows the digestive tract in the grains and with long baking makes the remarkable change from starch to sugar.

Therefore, the most delicate stomach can handle Grape-Nuts and the food is quickly absorbed into the blood and tissue, certain parts of it going directly to building and nourishing both body and brain. "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ever read the above letter? New one appears from time to time. These are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

SUMMER FROLIC BY NORWICH B. P. O. E.

Feature Outing at Lincoln Park With Attendance Over 300

—Boston, Willimantic, Putnam and Westerly Lodges

Represented—Norwich Victors in Baseball Game Over

Westerly—Home Team Also Takes Tug-of-War.

Lincoln park this year, as in 1914, was the rendezvous for the Norwich B. P. O. E. members, with their guests and visiting brothers from the lodges of Willimantic, Putnam, Westerly, for the annual summer frolic of Lodge No. 430, which exceeded even the big success of last season.

Members who gathered here from far and near were present to the number of 290, and there was an uproarious greeting for a delegation of 40 men from Boston lodge who arrived on the grounds about 1 o'clock, piloted by Pat Brown, a Norwich member, who had made the trip with the team coming from the capital of the Be State.
They came in two automobiles and all were white cloth outings hats.

The Western lodge members were a conspicuous feature of the outing as they arrived in 15 machines, decorated with big signs bearing the name of the lodge, and a feature of the big beach hats which had been presented them at Moore's clothing store before they left their Rhode Island city. Prominent among the delegation were Police Chief Thomas Brown, Exalted Ruler Max Novakovsky, Mike Mc-Carthy, the White Rock baseball manager, and a host of other players. The voices were heard with pleasure through the day. These included Leo Higgins, Joe Lemmon, Joe Moore and
J. J. Young.

Willimantic lodge included in its delegation of 10 Mayor Danny Dunn, but George Bartlett and his band, which were a feature of the team, were unable to be here this time.

Arrivals at the park kept swelling the crowd all through the morning and the frolic commenced on hand to give them a greeting and demonstrate that no detail had been omitted to provide entertainment for all. This was the work of J. H. Carney, chairman, Thomas H. Crawford, Dennis J.
Hayes, John H. Wilson and Rutherford of the Willimantic lodge, and the committee included Exalted Ruler Lawrence Mills, Joseph A. George, W. W. Beckwith, George C. Driscoll, J. D. Lucy, Stephen Kahoe, E. B. Van Hook, J.
C. Driscoll, J. P. Cummings, and Joseph F. Williams, John P. Flynn and
J. J. Young.

At 1 o'clock Exalted Ruler Beckwith put his big megaphone to his mouth and summoned the crowd to the rustic theater where the first of the cabaret program was begun with popular songs by Irene Macfarlane and songs and dances in black face by Jack Barrett. These two with five other vaudeville performers appeared on the stage and the musical and cabaret was a popular feature.

An excellent clam chowder prepared under the direction of Mrs. H. Henderson and George Park was served in the early part of the afternoon as an appetizer for the big bake that was to follow and to furnish fuel for the athletic events that were to follow.

Prominent among these were the baseball game in which the Norwich team, picked and managed by D. J.
Hayes defeated Manager McCarthy's Westerly team, 8 to 4, in the four lively days, serving at the gate and in keeping watch over the automobiles parked at the entrance to the park.

Bluefish, Drawn Butter.
Small Arlington Sausage.
Narrow Spring Chicken.
White and Sweet Potatoes.
Chicken Lobster. Steamed Clams.
Newport Lettuce Hearts.
White Bread and Butter Bread.
When the final article in the bake was served, the summer frolic of the B. P. O. E. was over.

Superintendents John Donovan and Barney Keenan were on hand throughout the day, serving at the gate and in keeping watch over the automobiles
parked at the entrance to the park.

ON DOWNHILL ROAD
ON 65TH BIRTHDAY Wanderer Spends the Anniversary in Cell at Police Headquarters.

Much of life—broken hopes, thwarted ambitions, discouragement, failure, humiliation—passes before the captain's desk, police station No. 10, 65 o'clock last night there came a respectable, sober, white-haired man, clean-shaven and neatly dressed, save for the dust on his roads that covered shoes and trousers. He said it was his 65th birthday and he wanted a lodging for the night. He was given a cell, and he will trust on the present day work, for which all tell him he is too old.

He was born, he said, in Philadelphia and early became interested in the cotton and woolen manufacturing business. At 30 he was earning $100 a day and on the high road to success.

He said he designed a high speed carding machine in the early 80's that now the American Woolen company uses by the score. He expected to get some return, but he never has. He went to take charge of a mill and the owner died at the eleventh hour and his plans went sky-high. Fifteen years ago, in a southern state, setting up machinery, he got caught in the gears and his back was nearly broken. It took seven years of doctoring to get him on his feet. Since then he has been able to earn only a pittance here and there. Last winter he passed on a town farm trust, the present day health is the best it has been in years, he said, and he is looking for light and hope. He cannot find it, nobody can, and he is headed back to the farm.

FIRE IN GREENEVILLE
ATHLETIC CLUB ROOMS.
Discovered by Policeman Delaney—Small Amount of Damage.

Damage, principally by water, was caused this (Thursday) morning through a fire in the rooms of the Greenville Athletic club in the Union hall building on North Main street. which was discovered by Policeman Matthew Delaney. He rang in an alarm at 2:05 a. m. from box 27 at the Greenville fire station.

The catocal machine of the Greenville company that responded found the fire in a closet under a stairway. The gas meter connection had been burned off and when the gas was shut off by the firemen a stream of water quickly subdued the blaze.

There was water damage in the empty store under the club room, which is on the second floor on the front of the building. The recall was sounded at 2:30 a. m.

important posts in the postal service in New England.

BRIGHT BUILDING COMMITTEE

Architects Laugh Over Way Once Used Plans Were Rejected on Bid for "Duplicate" Building.

In the way of architectural reminiscences, members of that profession in this and other cities of the state are enjoying a good story that is told by one of their number as follows: A member of a prominent architectural firm in the state happened in from a short visit on a brother firm in the same line, and they were discussing competitive work. A member of the latter firm tossed a newspaper to his visitor, saying: "There is a call for a competitive set of plans. Why don't you go for it?" And then they told the visitor the following:

In a certain part of the state was to be built a building for the use of a certain institution. It must be an exact duplicate of a No. 1 building which had been built in the state, and then built at this institution, and was to be built adjoining said No. 1 building. The firm which had furnished the original plans that the No. 1 building was built from, did not care to compete, and jokingly offered a friend in an adjoining architect's office a complete set of blue prints and the specifications of the original No. 1 building. The two went to the trouble of changing the architectural name on the original blue prints, and the plans and specifications as changed were put in the competition, these being exact copies of the original prints from which No. 1 building had been built, and No. 2 proposed building "must be an exact duplicate." When the "building committee" met, they very carefully inspected the original plans in the competition, and their inspection ended by coming to this original set of plans, which they found to be an exact duplicate of the original plans in the competition, and they inspected architects were very friendly with the specifying committee, and his plans must be accepted, and in mailing back the original set from which the No. 1 building had been built, they wrote in their letter to this architectural firm that they were returning his plans to him, and that they bore no resemblance to the building for which nor to the one wanted, in any way whatever. Of course the plans were sent back to the original firm, who furnished these plans and their amendment was evident as their books showed that they had collected 5 per cent for original work, and that on the exact lines of these blue prints, which No. 2 committee said "bore no resemblance to building bid or wanted."

This actually happened in Connecticut, and can be vouched for by the firm and is considered as having a place in their archives.
